RELEASED IN FULL

TELECON

Ambassador McCloskey/The Secretary

October 4, 1975

Time: 1:50 p.m.

- K: Did we get that maniac out of the building without blowing us up?
- M: Yes. We got the statements out. There were a lot of questions, of course. I took calls from Gwertzman and Schweid.
- K: What did you say?
- M: What you agreed upon here was essentially the question of relationship between the U.S. and Spain. It is the basis of a new agreement we are concluding in the Congress. I pointed out what the Spanish objectives had been and it finally had to be taken to the Foreign Minister level.
- K: Did you tell them we had five protocols to do?
- M: I told them nothing comes into effect until the implementing of the agreement. We are satisfied that it will be some weeks. They shouldn't jump to any further conclusion. No one asked for any action to be taken.
- K: Do you think they will report that we have completed an agreement?
- M: Well, they should only say that we completed the basis of an agreement--framework.
- K: Yeah.
- M: I am waiting to see what the tickers look like.
- K: And you will go to the Spaniards with me?
- M: Yes.
- K: OK.
